RULES AND REGULATIONS
OF
"BOXING FEDERATION OF INDIA"

1. PREAMBLE

Boxing serves the continuous improvement of physical and mental faculties in young athletes taking part in the sport. To compete in the sport of boxing requires regular and all-round training.

2. TITLE AND INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

The title of the association shall be Boxing Federation of India (BFI).

2. BACKGROUND

On March 3, 2014 AIBA excluded Indian Amateur Boxing Federation (IABF) from AIBA membership due to serious manipulations and irregularities associated with the management and working of IABF. After exclusion of IABF from AIBA membership and after evaluation of all the applications received from the potential groups and /or individuals interested in creating new AIBA national federation in India, the new vision and initiatives proposed to revive the sport of boxing in India in professional and ethical manner by the persons setting up Boxing India convinced AIBA that there would be no better organization than Boxing India to represent Boxing in India.

However, The Indian Boxing family got divided once again into various groups and inspite of AIBA's clear cut directions as per AIBA Executive Director's letter of the 14th September, 2015 refraining any group from organising events, competitions & tournament, the breakaway group had gone ahead and hosted a dummy General Council Meeting and even a National Championship without sanctions. This created an atmosphere of total indiscipline, confusion and unnecessary rebellion within resulting into non participation of Indian Boxing Team in back to back International meets including of an Asian Championship Tournament.

Eventually AIBA excluded Boxing India as its Member due to its total disregard to the discipline and directions sent by the AIBA. AIBA further entrusted its newly constituted Ad-Hoc Committee to look after the formation process of new Federation and also conduct Elections for its new office bearers.

As Boxing Federation of India will now be a newly formed association, it will have Provisional General Council (as defined hereinafter) and Provisional Office Bearer (as defined hereinafter) who will be responsible for management of Boxing Federation of India and creating affiliations in the manner provided in these rules and regulations until the General Council is duly constituted under these rules and regulations. Accordingly, these rules and regulations are divided in two parts, Part A and Part B. Part A deals with mechanism and steps required to be taken until the General Council is duly constituted under these rules and regulations and the Office Bearers are appointed. Part B deals with mechanism which will have to be followed after the General Council and Office Bearers are duly appointed / elected under these rules and regulations. As there is an urgency to revive boxing in India, certain action including but not limited to selecting members, holding elections, appointing Office Bearers in accordance with these rules and regulations may be taken even pending the incorporation of Boxing Federation of India, which actions would be deemed ratified under these Rules and Regulations. Accordingly, the General Council and the Office Bearers may even be duly appointed pending the incorporation of Boxing India.

3. Representatives

Boxing Federation of India interim Members are individuals, who would automatically cease to be members, once the final members are appointed and in the circumstances, detailed in Part A of these rules and regulations. The membership of the first General Council would be first offered to the boxing associations of all state and Union Territories, which were previously affiliated with the earlier two federations (IABF & BI).

In the event they are not desirous of being so appointed, membership may be offered to the other boxing associations of the relevant States and Union Territories. Only one association may represent a State / Unit.

In the event the State has a separate Boxing organization or organises / governs multiple sports including boxing, the organization involving only boxing would be preferred if other features were comparable.

In case of there being more than one Unit in a State or any other association challenging the selection of the first member or any other member, the matter will be referred to Dispute Commission of Boxing Federation of India, which shall be the final authority in deciding which Unit is to be affiliated with the Boxing Federation of India. In making such decision, the Dispute Commission will give due consideration to the district associations affiliated with such applicant / member. The Dispute Commission of Boxing Federation of India may also consider which Unit is recognised by the State / UT Olympic Association in making such decisions. The Dispute Commission of Boxing Federation of India, would be set up in accordance with Part B these Rules and Regulations.

Vocational Organizations of all India Nature, including but not limited to the following, Services Sports Control Board (SSCB); Railway Sports Promotion Board (RSPB); Steel Plants Sports Board (SPSB); and such other organization that are governing bodies responsible for the control of boxing in their respective jurisdiction, shall also be affiliated to Boxing Federation of India and shall be members of Boxing Federation of India.

A member shall be represented only by its accredited representatives, duly authorised by its President and Secretary General. All Members agree to conform to the AIBA Regulations, these rules and regulations and other rules of the Boxing Federation of India. For being admitted as a member each association must apply for affiliation in the manner required. If the application is accepted, the new members shall be immediately entitled to representation on the General Council from the date of such admission.

4. Official Language

English and Hindi shall be the official languages of Boxing Federation of India.
